

TWIN AWARDS for TORRANCE WORKS

Two handsome plaques now hang in the office of the Torrance Works of Columbia-Geneva Division of United States Steel. Looking at them, it is impossible to decide which gives us the greater thrill.

One came to us from our young friends of the Junior Achievement program, in recognition of two years of work with them. As you may know, there are some fifty Junior achievement "companies" in Los Angeles County. Their members, ranging in age from 15 to 19, issue stock, elect officers, and manufacture and sell products in the hope of a profit, just as their elders do. It is the privilege of some of our people to counsel weekly with a group who call themselves the "Jasco Products Corporation." They specialize in steel book racks, and a mighty good product they have too.

The second plaque on our office wall was earned by ALL the men and women at Torrance Works. It is the award of Merit of the National Safety Council, a tribute to the vigilance that gave us 1,346,328 injury-free man-hours in 1955.

United States Steel is proud of both these awards — as we are proud of the men and women of steel who won them for Torrance.
